[redacted] Mr. Roosevelt has not been in Washington but a few days since the Congress adjourned last year. However, he is keeping in touch with Committee matters through one of his assistants. Miss Audrey Smith advised me that all of the reports for the 86th Congress have been filed and that in all likelihood any future reports would require further hearings but in any event a proposed report would normally be brought to the attention of all members and they have received no information on any reports at this stage. She offered to be of help if I wished to check on this in the future.

15. [redacted] Talked with George Murphy, Joint Committee on Atomic Energy staff, indicating the Director would like to set a time for a meeting. In discussing an appropriate date, Murphy indicated that the week of the inauguration would be difficult since many members probably would not be able to attend because of pressure of other matters. I indicated the Director's wish that it be set at a time when there would be a likelihood of full attendance. We then selected 28 January as a
